

Something to It

Great Big Sea

I'm sorry if I ruined your day
I really hope that you understand
I'm a million miles away
Looking for a place to landMy father phoned me yesterday
Your time has come, well done, my son
Tried to think of what to say
When words can heed, already goneI don't know how I got here
There must be something to it
I think I need some time alone
To work my way through itThe moon is in the sky tonight
Not very warm but it sheds some light
Ask me now and I just might
Let the morning come and tell me if it's rightI don't know how I got here
There must be something to it
I think I need some time alone
To work my way through itSoon, initial bliss will pass
This precious time might be your last
Like dew upon the morning grass
Good intentions can vanish with the sunI'm sorry if I ruined your day
I really hope that you understand
But I'm a million miles away
Looking for a place to landWell, I'm a million miles away
Looking for a place to land
