Why did you ever leave today?
No you've been miles away
You took chance leaving after stands
You can blame it on your circumstances
You set up on a simple life
Meant to be home on be forgotNow you see that All is not as it seemed
You fade, you can't believeThen I glimpse you as you lied in here
Cautiously begun moving near
And I can't be sure if you can hear me
Now you can rest your tiny feet
Took a way and rest your tired wingsNo you dream, oh perfectly dreams
You love me to believeSeeking shelter from the wind
It blows with strength that has no end
So small you seem within my hand
You gather strength to leave againThe storm is strong
But you carried on
And now it's goneSeeking shelter from the wind
It blows with strength that has no end
So small you seem within my hand
You gather strength to leave againOoooooooooh
