

The Power of Thy Sword

Manowar

Lord of battle I pray on bended knee
Conquest by the rising sun
I'll wait for thy command with flame and blood at hand
Glory and a broken sword I'm the master of the world I have no fear of man or beast
Born inside the soul of the world
Riding hard, breaking bone with steel and stone
Eternal might I was born to wield Let us drink to the battles we've lived and we've fought
Celebrate the pain and havoc we have wrought
Great heroes charge into the fight
From the north to the south in the black of night The clash of honor calls to stand when others fall
Gods of war feel the power of my sword Drink to the battles we've lived and we've fought
Celebrate the pain and havoc we have wrought
Great heroes charge into the fight
From the north to the south in the black of night Fierce is my blade, fierce is my hate
Born to die in battle, I laugh at my fate
Now pay in blood when your blood has been spilled
You're never forgiven death is fulfilled The clash of honor calls to stand when others fall
Gods of war feel the power of my sword The clash of honor calls
I will stand when others fall
Open magic doors
They will know the power of my sword There is blood in my hands there is blood in my eyes
With blood in my voice I scream as you die
Thirsting for vengeance and mounds of the slain
Shaking the forest onto the plain Fierce is my blade, fierce is my hate
Born to die in battle, I laugh at my fate
Now pay in blood when your blood has been spilled
You're never forgiven death is fulfilled The clash of honor calls to stand when others fall
Gods of war feel the power of my sword The clash of honor calls to stand when others fall
Gods of war feel the power of my sword They will know the power of my sword
They will know the power of my sword
They will know the power of my sword
