

Lullaby

Armor for Sleep

Didnt they teach you
Everything's okay if you settle enough?
Forget your dreams
Lets pretend Im everything you want me to beComplicated breathing
You never had the guts just to throw me away
Life moves slow
When everythings a worse version of what you needAnd Im just the ground that you happened to fall on
When you lost your balance walking around in the rain
And you got to your feet, scratched your head
And started to gather the life that you trust all around meI cant fight for a graveyard anymoreSome people have their money
To keep their legs pumping away at the ground
What moves me is fear
That Ill always be alone at the end of the dayAnd Im just the ground that you happened to fall on
When you lost your balance walking around in the rain
And you got to your feet, scratched your head
And started to gather the life that you trust all around meI cant fight for a graveyard
I cant fight for a graveyard anymoreIm just the ground that you happened to fall on
Im just the ground, Im just the ground
Im just the groundAnd Im just the ground that you happened to fall on
When you lost your balance walking around in the rain
And you got to your feet, scratched your head
And started to gather the life that you trust all around meWell, Im just the ground, Im just the ground
Im just the ground, Im just the ground
I cant fight for a graveyard anymore

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnllyrics.com/>