I Shot My Heart

Ane Brun

I shot my heart to let you go
I shot it down for you but you don't know
I let my soul grow cold
And it's all, it's all I couldSince then I've been reckoning the scars I left on your skin
I've been recognizing the bullets I used for the execution
They went straight through me and in to you
And that's where they are stuck in
Since then I've been reckoning the scars I left on your skinI turned myself into A different kind of me to be able to Set my pride aside
And it's all, it's all I couldI'm turning myself in
Crawling down in my coffin
I'm turning myself in
Crawling down in my coffin
