Prick

The Evolution Control Committee

You're everywhere
I see you plead, high in my home
I watch you and miss you all day longYou keep me lying Playing games with your pet brain, I know why
You told me you had the right toI've always thought
This train was just some fucking phase but you ride on
You want me to ride around tooFill your ego
And bring you every inch of the way, I know why
You need to kill all the pain thereSympathize with me 'cause here I am
Rolling on my head
Like a child, you move so quickly
To touch the flame, you burn the vein goodnightAll along you run into mirrors
Everything you do is coming fast
Getting strong on the wrong from the money
Driving in your head you're in the trainYour only need
In life is flying in the wind, I know why
You told me it was your right toYou tell me
To look and watch you go down in your vein, I know why
To shock me your time for reachingYou're always slipping
Sliding deeper when you breathe, I walk by
You force me to walk around youUntil the phone rings
Asking how much do you need, you tremble on
As if your tricks have been heard beforeSympathize with me 'cause here I am
Rolling on my head
Like a child, you move so quickly
To touch the flame, you burn the pain goodnightAs you glide all through the river
Everyone just looks as if you're dead
If I had the strength of ten men
I'd pull your arms out and stick them on your head in piecesYou drown me white washed crippled inside me
My love is shoot to shame
You're right from wrong, it's emotion todayRelease me life of no matter
My life is here I will overcome
Your life away but your life will rollYour life away but your life will roll
Your life away but your life will roll
Your life away but your life will roll
Your life away, your life away, you like itOh brother, brother can I see you now? My brother
It's been too long since you've been away, brother
You're driving hard to get away, brother
I hope you've not gone too far
