No One Can Touch You Now (with Mike Schmid)

Cosmic Gate

Well winter came and went
But your heart was frozen over and it never thawed again
I know he hurt you, cut you deep
And you can feel me in your daze and in your dreams
And all the scars he gave, in seasons they could fade away
Where you can live them out again and again
But after all that you've been through
There is nothing left of you
Everything within, without, withdrew, withdrew, ohNo one can touch you now, you've hidden away your heart
No one can touch you now, it's safer where you are
If I can't get through your doubt, I'll find a way around
'Cause no one can touch you now, you've hidden away your heartWell the summer chased away the storm
But your heart is frozen over so you cannot feel the warmth
I won't hurt you, can't you see
But you still feel him in your daze and in your dreams
And all the scars he gave, in seasons they would fade away
Where you can live them out again and again
But after all that you've been through
There is nothing left of you
Everything within, without, withdrewNo one can touch you now, you've hidden away your heart
No one can touch you now, it's safer where you are
If I can't get through your doubt, I'll find a way around
'Cause no one can touch you now, you've hidden away your heart
