Earthless

Druids Of Stonehenge

I know this girl as pretty as can be
The sign of an Aquarius, she was born on the 18th
UFOs, snakes and spiders, give her the creepsAnd she's got a half life
A half smile and lives in semi luxury
Questions God, drugs and bullets
And the high school beauty queen
And shes courageous but scared to death
But thats what courage meansShes looking for some courage
She feels faithless, she feels earthless
She wants to run, shes strugglin for purpose
I tell her hang in now its worth it
Youve just begun, youve just begunHer bedroom is her temple
The books and the stereo her muse
And she feels humbled by this equation
And sets fire to all her shoes
Not because of Henry Miller
Shes just not leaving anytime soonAnd as the smoke pours out her window
An image forms behind the moon
And it looks like the face of Jesus
But if its Jesus, she needs proof
At the heart of the matter, the matter of fact
The science of matter, she hopes that its trueShes looking for some courage
She feels faithless, she feels earthless
She wants to run, shes strugglin for purpose
I tell her hang in you know its worth it
Youve just begun, youve just begun and youve just begun
And oh, and oh, just begun and oh, and oh, just begun

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/