Not Alone

Seabird

At arm's length, you held your spouse and children.
Your lake of grace so nearly killed them.
Forgivness still breathes, but he may not wake for years.
He's promised me still that this won't end in tears.'Cause we're not alone, no we're not alone now, honey.
Save your own 'cause we're not alone.Back home to find the garden as you left it.
Roses in full bloom, so glad you invested.
So you found, this room couldn't hold you down.
Stepped through these walls and taste life to the fullest.Not alone, no we're not alone now, honey.
We'll make it home 'cause we're not alone.
Not alone, no we're not alone now, honey.
Save your own 'cause we're not alone.Hold us close, it meant so much.
Maybe more than you knew.
Laugh a while, burn like fire.
Love us again just like you used to.
Sing so loud, make us proud.
Please say just what you heard.
Listen closer, hold your tongue.
Your tired eyes speak louder than words.
Speak louder than words, come on, oh...Not alone, no we're not alone now, honey.
We'll make it home 'cause we're not alone.
Not alone, no we're not alone now, honey.
Save your own 'cause we're not alone.Not alone, no we're not alone now, honey.
We'll make it home 'cause we're not alone.
