Nothing Left To Say

Ian Van Dahl

I can't change the way we live today.
It's just a matter of acceptance anyway.
I can't change the pain we have to face.
All our worries in time will fade away.In time will fade awayI can't change how people think today.
Maybe it's better, there's nothing left to say.
I don't care how people think today.
Maybe it's better, there's nothing left to say.There's nothing left to sayI don't care about the way we live today.
I'm just a part of the game we have to play.
I don't care what people have to say.
All our worries in time will fade away.I can't change how people think today.
Maybe it's better, there's nothing left to say.
I don't care how people think today.
Maybe it's better, there's nothing left to say.There's nothing left to say
