Hunter

Du Blonde

Baby I don't mind if my name is not the kind word you're looking for
I can stay away, no I don't need to lay myself before your door
And baby I won't cry if I never see your eyes again before I'm done
No I won't feel no pain if I hear down the train that you're moving onBaby when the stone rolls and powders your bones(?)
I hope that she keeps you happy at home
I tried but I just couldn't be
Baby when the glory hunts you down
You don't have the strength to carry the crown
I hope that you're happy to beBaby if it's true that I was bad for you then I apologize
I only ever tried to keep you satisfied, while you analysed
Everything I said seemed to drop like lead before your haunting eyes
All I ever did was love you like a kid and now we'll now the skies(?)Baby when the stone rolls and powders your bones(?)
I hope that she keeps you happy at home
I tried but I just couldn't be
Baby when the glory hunts you down
You don't have the strength to carry the crown
I hope that you're happy to be (3x)

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/