

Blue Skies Over Bad Lands

Matthew Good

What if you woke up in the middle of the night
And in your bare feed you walked outside
And realized that you were awake, that you could fly
Out over the world
Out over the world To places that you've only heard of See faces that you were sold as murderers
But just like you they're only lonely boys and girls
Like all over the world
All over the world What if you could lift them up
What if you could make it so that times weren't tough
So every morning when the world woke up
There'd only be weather on the news
Only weather on the news
Only weather on the news
Only weather on the news And what if you were back in bed
With one of them floating over your head
What do you say to your enemies
When you don't know what it is
That could have been between ya
That could have been between ya all
That could have been between ya
that could have been between ya all
That could have been between ya

Songwriters

Good, Matthew Published by

Lyrics Â© EMI Music Publishing Song Discussions is protected by U.S. Patent 9401941. Other patents pending.

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnllyrics.com/>