

Maybe You're Right

The Rankin Family

Is this my imagination
Are you the real thing
A sordid preoccupation
Or a decent human being, oh
Just when you think you have fallen
There's a road up ahead

Have I found my vocation
Could you be heaven sent?
A solid foundation
A sin I'm yet to repent, oh
Just when you think you've fallen
There's a shining light instead

Maybe you're right, I could be wrong
One and two hearts will break
Two at a time will mend
Maybe it all comes around again

Maybe you're right, I could be wrong

(Yeah, yeah, yeah, maybe you're right, I could be wrong)

Maybe you're an ocean
That reaches every shore
A teacher of devotion
Going from door to door
Just when you think you have fallen
There's a shining light instead

Maybe you're right, I could be wrong
One and two hearts will break
Two at a time will mend
Maybe it all comes around again

Maybe you're right, I could be wrong
One or two hearts will break
Two at a time will mend
Maybe it all comes around again

(Maybe you're right, I could be wrong)

Are you an infatuation
That comes from far beyond
A distant relation
To feelings left undone
Just when you think you've fallen
There's a shining light instead

Maybe you're right, I could be wrong
One or two hearts will break
Two at a time will mend
Maybe it all comes around again

One or two hearts will break
Two at a time will mend
Maybe it all comes around again
Just maybe, ooh, yeah, yeah, yeah, yeah
Maybe you're right, I could be wrong
Maybe you're right ooh, yeah yeah
Maybe you're right, I could be wrong
Maybe you're right, I could be wrong

Lyrics Submitted by Jonathan

Lyrics provided by
<https://damlyrics.com/>