Needn't Speak (feat. Lianne La Havas)

Rudimental

I broke it down but your heart was sore
It's gonna take much more to get you off that floor
We needn't speak, look how hard we've cried
Had to beat that pride to get you off my mindBaby don't you worry, I don't know where to start
Should I listen to the voices in my brain or my heart?
I must find a way to say that when all is said and done
I hope you're happy that way
I just can't let go, go
I just can't let go, goYou let me go to a place unknown
From the depths I've flown, so I was left to roam
Now you can see why I had to leave
You were leaving me, I had to find my feetBaby don't you worry, I don't know where to start
Should I listen to the voices in my brain or my heart?
I must find a way to say that when all is said and done
I hope you're happy this way
I just can't let go, go
I just can't let go, go
I just can't let go, go
I just can't let go, go
