

A Thief On My Island

Embrace

In this room that empties when you're gone
I'm left hanging with no hook to swing from
And this solitude I seem bent on

On my island

On my island

Why'd you fail to find me for so long?
You're the rocks that I've been breaking on
In your seashell where the shore has gone

On my island

On my island

There's no raising this wreck from the rubble
No escaping, your debts only double
There's no test and no chance to correct it
Fire doors or emergency exits

There's no road and no reference to violence
Or levies to pay that will bring you asylum
There's no room for a thief on my island

My island

On my island

I wanna feel safe

When the night ends on a broken heel
Need to see how the excitement feels
Toss my measure on the roulette wheel

On my island

On my island

You're a psycho, you're beyond my care
While you're retching I'll be holding your hair
Find our picture perfect Eden there

On my island

On my island My belly's stinging with the sickness
Is everyone bigger than me?
