

Opponents At Sides

Death Angel

From the day they were born these brothers
Had sworn to be unified
Through the thick and thin no matter
Lose or win together till they die Out to conquer the world, destiny unfurled
Before their very eyes
Forever living the dream or so it seemed
Beneath the hidden lies Look to the left and right
The enemy in sight They will earn your trust
They will call you brother
They will be your friend
Then turn and trade you for another In the days of the sun they were killing
As one solid death machine
No one stood in their way, but the price
To be paid yet remained unseen Then along came the rain bringing
With it the pain and disarray
The colors started to fade turning into
A gray shadow of yesterday Look to the left and right
Attack by day or night They will earn your trust
They will call you brother
They will be your friend
Then turn and trade you for another Lies, corruption, self indulgence
Greed, deceit, wolves in the sheep They will earn your trust
They will call you brother
They will be your friend
Then turn and trade you for another

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnlyrics.com/>