Wind (Acoustic)

Kelley Jakle

Gotta have faith, gotta live crazy before your life is through Love is enough, gotta be tough, make a wish, your dreams come true
Help someone out, gotta reach out, gotta be who you wanna be Each new day coming your way is a chance to live life free

'Cause wind blows time and again
And who knows when life will end
You can't see what lies ahead
But wind will blow time and again, again

Don't think about faith, don't you dare wait to go the extra mile
And never underestimate the beauty of your smile
Let it all out, take a time out to change your point of view
Don't care what others are all about, you gotta just be you

'Cause wind blows time and again
And who knows when life will end
You can't see what lies ahead
But wind will blow time and again, again

And though the road is rough, I know
The time is now to take control
You gotta be living your soul
For the only thing that we do know

Wind blows time and again
But live life like it doesn't end
You can't see what lies ahead
But wind will blow time and again, again, again

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/