Inception

Gemini Syndrome

No one knows the things that I know If you did you'd turn away You can only see what I show I've seen a better day I dont care which way the wind blows it chooses it in spite of me all of the decisions i've made Dont seem to change a thingNo one knows me, or sees what I seeYou think I am blind but you are so behind
we are the outcome of a progression you were the devil from the inception
You are not my kind I'd like to show you something im not sure you want to see you may find the whole thing ugly but thats me essentially I am just another victim of the way you made me be this battle is far from over it lasts for eternityNo one knows me, or sees what I seeYou think I am blind
but you are so behind
We are the outcome of a progression
you were the devil from the inception
You are not my kind Everyt time you look at me and your eyes are so consumed With what you hope to find in the end but the illusory fades and slowly becomes a friend and gently shows you the way to integrity and love to defendYou think I am blind
but you are so behind
You think I am blind
but you are so behind
We are the outcome of a progression
you were the devil from the inception

You are not my kindNO
You are not my kind
