If You Were Me

Blowsight

How many lies would it take to change your mind when You couldn't understand why
I think you know when you hear the sirens
You really wonder if I just died.
I hear you're leaving that guy tomorrow
I just can't care anymore
You're just a blur, a memory, a chapter one, that's all for meAnd I'm living in a world full of this misery
I don't want you back so let it be
If you were me I know you'd see the difference
I didn't want to hurt you but the love is blind
I couldn't leave home, now I changed my mind
Looking at the time where I give I'm looking at the time where I lived.How many years will it take to make you understand that I'm gone forever
I kind of know, when you hear the rumours you will appear to feel better
So I hear he's leaving you for another one
I just can't care anymore
So can you feel how much it hurts?
I've been there myself, I can feel youBurst all of the time - You will appear to feel betterAnd I'm living in a world full of this misery
I don't want you back so let it be
If you were me I know you'd see the difference
I didn't want to hurt you but the love is blind
I couldn't leave home, now I changed my mind
Looking at the time where I give
I'm looking at the time where I lived
(I'm looking at the time where I lived)Take your time - don't loose it all
Livin' on fire
Murderer - how does it feel to call me a liar?
Take your time - don't loose it all
Livin' on fire
Murderer - how does it feel to call me a liar?I could burst all of time
Cuz I'm living in a world full of this misery
I don't want you back so let it be
If you were me I know you'd see the difference
I didn't want to hurt you but the love is blind
I couldn't leave home, now I changed my mind
Looking at the time where I give

I'm looking at the time where I lived

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/