

When Daylight Dies (Acoustic)

Heaven Below

It's said I count the days at night,
Since I survived.
This lonely abyss is the place,
I've learnt to hide.
But the memories conflict with the story I keep
In my mind.
Then reality comes over me,
Like darkness to blind.

I can't live without your love,
And I can't die.
And still I'm standing in the rain,
When daylight dies.

I've fallen for tomorrow,
For centuries I have stayed.
I've tried to believe but my eyes
Give me away.
It's like you opened up a door to a world I've never known.
A funeral for a friend.
Then I awake and I come back to life,
It kills me I'll fall and I'll fall again.

I can't live without your love,
And I can't die.
And still I'm standing in the rain,
When daylight dies.

And so I shield myself from the Sun,
I crawl away, away from everyone;
Maybe it's time I said goodbye.
I have suffered for the truth while others laughed when they lied.
I've even contemplated suicide;
But I won't leave you here,
I'm not afraid to die.

But I can't live without your love,
And I can't die.
How long is this life?
How long is this life?

I can't live without your love,
I can't die.
Still I'm standing in the rain,
When daylight dies.
