

Find Your Escape

Number One Gun

I've got a common question
Burning up in my head
But I won't listen I won't do this again You're gonna bury yourself tonight
You're staying up straight till the morning light
And nothing's forever but you're getting better This city's gonna half fall
Not enough to keep the walls from coming down
You have to believe in yourself You're better off without an escape
Leave it all and as a concept in your mind
Accept that this is the way it goes Would you wish for
Would you wish for again?
A simple reason, a simple reason instead? You're gonna bury yourself tonight
You're staying up straight till the morning light
And nothing's forever but you're getting better This city's gonna half fall
Not enough to keep the walls from coming down
You have to believe in yourself You're better off without an escape
Leave it all and as a concept in your mind
Accept that this is the way it goes
The way it goes, the way it goes
And believe it's alright This city's gonna half fall
Not enough to keep the walls from coming down
You have to believe in yourself This city's gonna half fall
Not enough to keep the walls from coming down
Accept that this is the way it goes You're better off without an escape
Leave it all and as a concept in your mind
You have to believe in yourself

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnlyrics.com/>