Don't Break the Wings

Holly Dunn

Walkin' a fine line down love's scary road
When do I hold on? When do I let go?
Looking back at mistakes, I've made so much, I would change
'Cause I know how, I see now it's such a simple thingDon't break the wings of the one you love, help him learn to fly
Tenderly set him free, it just might last a lifetime
Yeah, if you try to hold too tight, it just might be too much
Don't break the wings of the one you loveDoesn't matter who's wrong or right, just make room for love
You can never get enough or give too much
It's a little like dancin', sometimes fast, sometimes slow
It just took time for me to find just how it goesDon't break the wings of the one you love
Don't break the wings of the one you love
