Forgiveness

Batdorf & McLean

There are some fences that are awfully hard to mend
And there are some actions that are even harder to defend
You've been gone for half a lifetime
Ain't it time that we were friends?

It's all about forgiveness
It's all about love

There are some decisions much too painful to make
And there are some revisions we would trade for each and every mistake
But there is a cure for all the wounds from promises we break

It's all about forgiveness
It's all about love
It's all about forgiveness
It's all about love

Wherever you are, whatever you've done to me
I'm so sorry I could not forgive so easily
But now I'm the one who's broken another's heart
And I'm learning what it means to need a brand new start

There are some fences that are awfully hard to mend
And there are some actions that are harder to defend
And with all my heart I'm telling you
You've long since made amends

It's alll about forgiveness
It's all about love
I'm asking your forgiveness
I'm needing your love
