Forever More

A Telemetry

you are left behind
caught inside the gate
where disillusion rules pain is awakened

it's deadly cost
promises in vain
confusion in our head
the burn takes over

now you're left in a cender to smolder off lies can you gain your release buried and you don't even know it all hope is lost

to your greedy need

you reach for the sky
even though
you're deep inside a hole forever more forever more

no solace
or way to climb
reflextions of a past
controling future

ingaging time
try to hold the line
as you walk into a maze the walls are closing

now you feel the hammer it falls on you
in a plague of deceit

running without getting nowhere the hold is strong

as the desperate bleed

you never realised
what's at stake
desire lost - to make that break
