Hell Is For Heroes

I've been searching for a getaway A get out clause, a safe escape route If I could shape myself to fit the mold I would break it just to pass through He's the one to make us feel like We belong here on the inside I've been searching for a getaway A get out clause, a safe escape route If I could shape myself to fit the mold I would break it just to pass through He's the one to make us feel like We belong here on the inside After all it's entertainment You will get just what you paid for Open doors that I can walk through Open eyes that I can see through Give me skin so I can touch you Give me space so I can break through Open doors that I can walk through Open eyes that I can see through Give me skin so I can touch you Give me space so I can break through I'll suffer I'll suffer with you, my friend I'll suffer I'll suffer until the end
