Callbacks

We Are Scientists

I guess that I should probably leave right now 'Cause I'm already kinda sweaty and freakin' out I gotta time bomb headache that's sticking down I guess that everything is better when I'm not around It's all outta context, there's nothing I'm into Call it a complex, it's really quite simple I'm tired of these hang-ups I wish someone would call me back, how 'bout it? Well, my tongue is hot and I'm singing songs I got a million, only words for what you are I gotta plastic bag and a broken heart I guess that everything is better wherever you are It's all outta context, there's nothing I'm into Call it a complex, it's really quite simple I'm tired of these hang-ups I wish someone would call me back, how 'bout it? It's all about context, there's nothing I'm into Call it a complex, it's really quite simple I'm tired of these hang ups I wish someone would call me back I said that I'm so sorry to bring you down I guess that everything is better when I'm not around And I'm so sorry to bring you down I guess that everything is better when I'm not around And I'm so sorry to bring you down I guess that everything is better when I'm not around

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/