Second Class

i'm watching every time you pass me by and you see me yet i never seem to catch your eye it shouldn't be so complicated and i'm sending out my declaration hoping you might hear losing all my motivation falling on deaf ears i'm learning with every second that tics by you're trying so hard to play these stupid games with my mind this shit is all so overrated and i'm sending out my declaration hoping you might hear losing all my motivation falling on deaf ears
