

Slippin' and Slidin'

Justin Townes Earle

I shoulda learned better,
I'm old enough to know.
Slippin' and slidin', feelin' low. Yeah it's a sit back at best,
A shame for sure, babe.
Slippin' and slidin', feelin' low. Now I'm waking up feelin' bad again.
I'm losing patience with my only friend.
Why do I try my luck?
I should never touch the stuff,
but it's shouldn't make any difference mama,
As long as I keep up appearances, Lord. I've been workin' too hard,
I need some time at home,
Slippin' and slidin', and feelin' low. Darling I just need a little comfortin',
I ain't seen the sunrise since I don't know when.
Days getting longer, nights getting cold.
Slippin' and slidin', feelin' low.
I'm a slippin' and slidin', peekin' and hidin',
I'm slippin' and slidin', feelin' low.

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnlyrics.com/>