Not Insane

Sarah Bettens

For every time you tell me that I cant be who I am
For every time you twist my arm and get me to confess
For every door you close on me
For every boy or girl you turn your back toYou will pay the price of someday knowing
That you think you tried and yet you failed
To see that you can't change meI told myself today
Its pretty nice to find your way
No matter what you say
I am not insaneFor every so called victory you lose a piece of you
The one that shows you love can be in everything you do
Love can be in everything you doI told myself today
Its pretty nice to find your way
No matter what you say
I am not insaneLook inside you, find what drives you
I can't change youI told myself today
Its pretty nice to find your way
No matter what you say
I am not insaneI told myself today
Its pretty nice to find your way
No matter what you say
I am not insane, ooh

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/