

Home Again

Glen Campbell

Home again I turned my collar to the wind started home again
Home again a place where I can find the friends that's home again
Well I've seen everything that I wanted to see
And I finally see what's important to me I'm going home I'm going home Home again I've been too long upon my way this way don't pay
Home again too many names I can't recall it's coming home
Well I've done everything I thought I wanted to do When each step I took took me far away from you I'm going home I'm going home Home again I can't extend by even time joys ain't crime
Home again somehow I know there's time enough enough to love
Well I've had everything that I thought I would need
Now I'm going home I'm gonna try my hand of freedom
I'm going home I'm going home I'm going home
