Gangs of Ballet

Who's holding up the sun, holding on today is done Who's standing on the mountain, telling me to carry on It takes an age to find a rock, a hand, an honest heart

When you find love you tie yourself to it, it'll make you strong I'll follow you, follow you into the darkness I'll follow you, follow you to the edge of the world Who knows the way I see the world and knows where I belong

Who knows my words before they've come, before they're spoken of I wonder how the fight would go if I was all alone

But you've got my back, I've got your back, our house is standing strong I'll follow you, follow you into the darkness

I'll follow you, follow you to the edge of the world
