Evaporated

Ben Folds

What I've kept with me
And what I've thrown away
And where the hell I've ended up
On this glary, random day
Were the things I really cared about
Just left along the away
For being too pent up and proudWoke up way too late
Feeling hungover and old
And the sun was shining bright
And I walked barefoot down the roadStarted thinking 'bout my old man
It seems that all I want to get into a car and go
AnywhereHere I stand
Sad and free
I can't cry
And I can't see
What I've done
Oh God what have I done?Don't you know I'm numb, man
No I can't feel a thing at all
'Cause it's all smiles and business these days
And I'm indifferent to the lossI think that there's a soul somewhere
That's leading me around
I wonder if she knows which way is downHere I stand
Sad and free
I can't cry
And I can't see
What I've done
Oh God what have I done?I poured my heart out
I poured my heart out
It evaporated
SeeBlind man on a canyon's edge
Of a panoramic scene
Maybe I'm kite that's flying high and random
Dangling on a string
Or slumped over in a vacant room
Head on a stranger's knee
I'm sure back home
They think I've lost my mindHere I stand
Sad and free
I can't cry

And I can't see
What I've done
Oh God what have I done?
