But I Lied

Tina Arena

Wonder if it's always been this bright I could never tell you where it all went wrong I could spend a lifetime handing out the blame Because you were always right I could call it all a big mistake But love that we are given never goes away It just changes every day 'Cause every night I'm still pretending you're not on my mind And every day gets better, everything is almost fine Guess I'll find it if I wait But I lied I know yesterday has come and gone There's nothing in your heart that I don't understand Wishes are like water slipping through my hands And I never could hold on Every edge is dangerously rough Truth is complicated when it comes to you Nothing ever changes but my point of view And today I'll call it love As if calling was enough And every day gets better, everything is almost fine But I lied, But I lied, But I lied So much effort gone and more to come 'Cause every night I'm still pretending you're not on my mind Stumbling through this journey is an uphill climb Would I wonder what I had done? Would I be the only one? If I was to make love to you one more time And every day gets better, everything is almost fine And every day gets better, everything is almost fine 'Cause every night I'm still pretending you're not on my mind 'Cause every night I'm still pretending you're not on my mind But I lied Yeah yeah [Thanks to chazz@voila.fr for these lyrics]
