fear your thoughts is what we are taught fear the gods that are worn and jaded watched by our own minds fear the eyes that we createdI can't stop to breathe until the walls are coming down I can't make believe that this is all because what's lost cannot be found I can't stop to sleep until the walls are painted red the only time you ever walked on water was to stand atop my headno real rights, thoughts, or ideas just safety proof lives for safety proof minds no sin. no nonsense. time to break free no worries left about your immorality you close your eyes and fear the gods someone's watching
fear your thoughts
