

Liar (feat. Linying)

Gentle Bones

Sweetest I'm gambling every try, I'm struggling in the half light
To be on my best behavior these days
All this changing's got a name and I don't claim to know it The Danish house is on its way down the ocean anytime now In the day I surely must've had much more to say than waking up and waiting to go in the blink of an eye Fall asleep wishing I could have this on repeat Was it out of my hands Over again
Slowly you're saying some kind of sorry but it's sounding more like you're letting me know
I'm not afraid to be the one to leave and the letting you go Why give some kind of story when you know it's only gon' be nothing at all Give it over little lover you know I'll be another to call My shivering spite is no match for the crumbling catch to see me, believe me I can be such a liar sometimes it's just a triumph to know how right
You can be so right
I'd drop every fight
I have no right
If i stayed easily involved in your dismay then maybe i just wouldn't have known that little more in your lies Slowly you're saying some kind of sorry
but it's sounding more like you're letting me know
I'm not afraid to be the one to leave and the letting you go Why give some kind of story when
you know it's only gon' be nothing at all
Give it over little lover you know I'll be another to call Song Discussions is protected by U.S. Patent 9401941. Other patents pending.

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnllyrics.com/>