As You're Told

Normal Like You

morality strikes, put your mind to the scale if you're willing you know just where you stand there's a fine line from faith to corruption we grow up hating others' perceptions wrong is right in this world that we live in how could you kill to appeal to some fucking religion just do as you're told, do as you're tolddeep beneath you must lay a reason besides the stories your faith has told you continue to believe, without questioningwe live and we learn, but for some minds are set in upbringing you know only beliefs that were planted inside you so early life is short, it can pass in a heartbeat waste away to amount to something
how could you kill to appeal to some fucking religion just do as you're told, do as you're told Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/