

A Day In the Life of a Fool

George Jones

Morning comes and I'm alone ...
It's been a year since you've been gone
But it seems like yesterday ,you said goodbye
I'm finding ways to pass the time ,so I won't lose my mindBut my every waking hour I think of you
That's just a day in the life of a fool
The one who's holding out for only you
Knowing all along your love for me is trueIt's just a day in the life of a fool
You would think I'd learn by now , to forget it all some how .
But my favorite memories were made with you
So every moment that I have , I live them in the pastEven though there?s no way back to where we were
That's just a day in the life of a fool
The one who's holding out for only you
Knowing all along your love for me is true
