

Jah Is Listening Now (Acoustic 2010)

SOJA

I know you feel like you're, you're all alone,
And all you can depend on now, is your flesh and your bones. So look around now, and let it talk to you, yeah and when those colors run together, remember, that Jah is listening now. When you wake, he's listening now,
When you sleep, he's listening now,
When you're smiling, he's listening now,
When you weep, he's listening now,
If you don't, he's listening now, and if you need, he's listening now,
When you talk, he's listening now,
When you don't speak... I know you think that you know, real and fake,
Well sometimes reality is, truly just what we make. I know you feel like you're in total control, but when things spin out of your hands, you should know, you should know, you should know... That we all fall down, and we will one day
we all land here,
we all drift away.
We all stand on this Earth,
the same ground,
we're all so lost, but I've found,
Jah is listening now. When you wake, he's listening now,
When you sleep, he's listening now,
When you're smiling, he's listening now,
When you weep, he's listening now,
When you don't, he's listening now,
When you need, he's listening now,
When you talk, he's listening now,
When you don't speak, he's listening now.
He's listening now,
he's listening now,
he's listening now, now, now.

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnllyrics.com/>