Torch Song

The Walkmen

If I had known the graceful song I should know
To slow down all the madness, I would have sung
A whispered melody to calm you and keep you closeBut I don't know the tune
It's a burden on my sorry soul
No, I don't have a clue
It's a weight upon my empty skullIf I was soundly sleeping, I'd fall into dreams
But the night time's stale and restless, it's all wrong for me.
The night time's stale and restless, it's all wrong for me.I don't know the tune
It's a burden on my sorry soul
No I don't have a clue
A weight upon my empty skull.
