Christmas Once Again

Hilary Weeks

When the frost comes
When mittens and hats go on
When the snow leaves a blanket of white veiling the groundWhen housetops
Glisten with strings of light
When the children impatiently wait for that magical nightIts Christmas
Its Christmas once againSing Halleluia
For a star in the sky and angels who sang
Halleluia, O Halleluia
For the Gift Heaven gaveWhen sleigh bells ring
When evergreens scent the air
When the ovens and counters are filled with goodies to shareWhen the laughter begins
As families gather close
When the melodies of the season echo through our homesIts Christmas
Its Christmas once againRepeat ChorusWhen hearts change
When hope conquers fear
When the things that really matter seem a little more clearWhen a manger
Tells the story of how were blessed
When nations unite in peace and good will to all menIts Christmas
Its Christmas once againRepeat ChorusBecause of Him
Its Christmas once again
