

Jolly Green Dumbass

Fenix TX

Well all the things I've said to try to make it work have all been bent or misunderstood Everything was taken the wrong way Now you're making things so hard Now when you think of me you get bent outta shape pissed off at all the choices that you've made Everything is going the wrong way And it's making things so hard You always kick and scream so hard what can I do to calm you down why do you make things so hard you gotta stop sneaking around I guess for you a new life has begun I'll sit at home and watch reruns So I'm gone all the time what difference does it make togetherness doesn't seem to amount to anything everything is all screwed up and now I'm making things so hard Sometimes I think about the way it used to be you're not the same person that you started out to be I haven't talked to you in days and I guess it's not so hard
