

Alive Right Now (feat. Addie Pratt)

Brad Paisley

It's, "Hey Siri, who sings this song?" (Brad Paisley)
It's a selfie with your best friend and a beer
It's a hashtag Friday feelin'
It's you need a ride and, boom, your Uber's here
It's wondering if I'm on your mind
Then you send an emoji of a heart
It's turn on airplane mode, next thing you know
You're right back in my arms It's great to be alive right now
By the grace of God somehow
Yeah, girl, this is our time
I'm glad that I'm alive right now
Say the word and I'd run to you
And my Fitbit would count the steps
I ain't ever gonna lose you
I got Waze, I got GPS
I got the whole world in a smart phone
In my hand
I gotta friend who's a soldier
And he FaceTime's his family from Afghanistan
He says It's great to be alive right now
By the grace of God somehow
These may not be perfect times
But I'm glad that I'm alive right now I've met angels and survivors
That twenty years ago there'd be nothing they could do
But thanks to places like St. Jude
It's great to be alive right now
By the grace of God somehow
No one knows how long a time
But guess what? You're alive right now Used to hold up a lighter it would burn like crap
But now we've got a flashlight app
Turn it on and let it shine
I'm glad that I'm alive right now Alive right now
Yeah, so glad to be alive right now
So glad to be alive right now
Alive right now

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnllyrics.com/>