Ancient Dreams

Candlemass

Reach deep within where reality is hard to find search in the corners of the wondering mazesof your mind Seek out the treasures that open doors that some keep sealed believe in your dreams and a wonderworld will be revealed Come to the boundless land somewhere inside your fantasies built by dreams and magic, the secret place that none have seen Chase the horizons, catch the illusion
remember the child within There's no tomorrow just sadness and sorrow
hold on to the Ancient Dreams Great kings and tyrants, unicorns and elflords devils and demons, dungeons and dragons Phoenix is rising up from the ashes in the wind born into glory, then back to ashes once again High flies the dragon, the ruler of the seven skies riding the winds, not knowing that he just can't die Chase the horizons, catch the illusion
remember the child within
There's no tomorrow just sadness and sorrow
hold on to the Ancient Dreams
See how the wizard cast his spell with maddened eyes using his magic to reach the heavenly skies Witness the alchemist turning all his lead to gold try after try, begging that his fantasy will hold See how the rainbow bends its shape into the sea follow the sign and your dreams will be reality
Chase the horizons, catch the illusion
remember the child within
There's no tomorrow just sadness and sorrow
hold on to the Ancient Dreams
