Everyone Is The Same

Innerpartysystem

If you were somebody else, if you were somebody else
If you were somebody else, if you were somebody else
If you wereNobody sees you when the lights are off
Nobody sees you when the mirror talks, they have everything
They have everything
I'm sinking more in this familiar hole
A little smaller than it was before, they have everything
So perfect and afraidThey say the war is over
I say it's just the start
We have been fighting for so long
To hide the way we areI wonder aimlessly on to their side
I can relate but can't afford the price, the price I pay
Oh they have everything
Oh will they love you when the lights are on
Oh will they love you when the lights are on
I want everything
I wanna be perfectThey say the war is over
I say it's just the start
We have been fighting for so long
To hide the way we areEveryone, everyone is the same
Everyone, everyone is so damaged and ashamed,
Jealous and afraidThey say the war is over
They say the war is over
They say the war is over
Everyone, everyone is the same
They say the war is over
Everyone, everyone is the same
They say the war is over
Everyone, everyone is the same
They say the war is over
Everyone, everyone is the sameThey say the war is over
I say it's just the start
We have been fighting for so long
To hide the way we areIf you were somebody else, if you somebody else
If you were somebody else, if you somebody else
If you were somebody else
