

Eye Shop Heaven

Guided By Voices

duly warned
she had ben gazing at a charmer eyes call to the snakefancy nails and fattening
a dress
a street of swollen legsher pleasant crimson face is content"Eye Shop Heaven"the gaze falls on bargain slips
do not now keep
the quick candy eyes
a dartboard display
if you look awayyou are simply lying it's slightly strange to saycleanly shaven out to blow
money he did not have chips fall to a rakefleshly pale black and blue
peddlers parking
no one begsthe pearly madhouse whites at the gatesof eyeshop heaven sized up for market price embezzling a snatch
the milk of red eyes
the catch of the day
if you look awayyou are simply lying
it's slightly strange to sayyou are simply lying. . .
