

Crystal Palace

Deine Lakaien

Daffodils, grey birds, the autumn chill ladies from strange southern lands roses wild, trees to hide, yesterday all of a sudden no yokeWelcome to crystal palace feel free to taste the wine welcome you foreign strangers don't be afraid, melt the ice welcome to all of you dreamers feel free to change your mind just say goodbye to old teachers don't feel ashamed that you've often lied Lemon gradd, silent heat, time to spend while seconds drop from your hand waters deep, lackeys creep, two birds got killed killed with one stone, can't preventWelcome to crystal palace
 welcome to all of you dreamers
 don't feel ashamed that you've often liedFleurs-de-lis, paradiese, chances you've missed a sign from the lady's left hand white men spy, tears running down the cheek no matter how hard they will play Welcome to crystal palace
 welcome to all of you dreamers
 just say goodbye to old teachers
