

Red Sails In The Sunset

Bing Crosby

Was down where fisher folk gathered

I wandered far from the throng

I heard a fisher girl singin'

And this refrain was her song
Red sails in the sunset way out on the sea

Oh carry my loved one home safely to me
He sailed at the dawning, all day I've been blue

Red sails in the sunset, I'm trusting in you
Swift wings you must borrow, make straight for the shore

We marry tomorrow and he goes sailing no more
Red sails in the sunset way out on the sea

Oh carry my loved one home safely to me
Swift wings you must borrow, make straight for the shore

We marry tomorrow and he goes sailing no more
Red sails in the sunset way out on the sea

Oh carry my loved one home safely to me
