

Sink Sand

Lieutenant

Have you ever wondered where she goes
Have you ever wandered in the atmosphere
Have you ever sought the common sting
Only to find a hollow ring
I'm pushing back the affect

All the time

Dismayed in grey

Sink sand devours precious time (all the time)

I think in hours

Set the clocks behind

Once there was what once would probably do

I live to laugh but why not with you

Alive like the care taker of Lenin's tomb

Shifting like a conscript out to sea

Miles from home and six feet from bed

We stood at a distance out under the sun

Then gazed through waves above tarry black road

A scene so simple now it's Guernica

All grace ablaze

Sink sand devours precious time (all the time)

I think in hours

Set the clocks behind

Once there was what once would probably do

I live to laugh but why not with you

I take two strokes to the right and find

Find I've lost sight

Find the way back to shore alright

Under a bonfire's red light

Sink sand devours precious time (all the time)

I think in hours

Set the clocks behind

Once there was what once would probably do

I live to laugh but why not with you

Alive like the care taker of Lenin's tomb

Song Discussions is protected by U.S. Patent 9401941. Other patents pending.

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnllyrics.com/>