Sevan

stirring at water's edge cold froth on my twig
    my mind in whirls
    wanders around desire
may i, can i or have i too often
    craving miracles
may i, can i or have i too often now
    craving miracles
    craving miracles
no one imagines the light shock i need and i'll never know from who's hands deeply humble dangerous gifts as such to mine come may i, should i or have i too often
    craving miracles
my romantic gene is dominant and it hungers for union universal intimacy
    all embracing

    craved miracles
    crave
    waves irregularly striking wind stern in my face thunderstorm come
    scrape those barnacles of me!
may i, may i or should i too often crave miracles
    all my body parts are one as lightning hits my spine sparkling
    prime runs through me

revive my wish inviolable
may i, can i, should i or have i too often
craving miracles
