One Glimpse B.C.

Sinew

more than a memory I have never left you here in the craving of your soul I'm the hope within they made me a holy man devoid of doubts that you well know with a promise for a life after eternity

I know
one day you will understand the key lies within your hand and you will look through the eyes of your savior

I know
one day you will realize heaven's a place inside

only a glimpse away I'm just as far as your own heart give away what you don't have and take this gift for you an icon of mastery they have turned my words to shells denied my mind inside of you and everyone
